

Statewide Super Live with Eqlize

- South Australia's only locally based and operated industry superannuation fund, Statewide Super, has gone live with Decimal's Eqlize digital financial advice solution
- First stage of digital advice now available to 145,531 members
- Tripartite delivery with Statewide, Decimal and Industry Fund Services (IFS)

Decimal Software (ASX:DSX; "Decimal" or "the Company") is pleased to announce that South Australia's only locally based and operated industry superannuation fund Statewide Super, has launched a digital advice platform to its 145,531 members.

Decimal CEO Nic Pollock said Statewide Super had demonstrated leadership among the medium sized funds nationally by opening the digital channel for advice alongside traditional advice.

"Statewide Super has demonstrated that small to mid-size super funds can offer digital advice to members with proven solutions such as Decimal's Eqlize," he said.

Statewide Super's General Manager Member Engagement & Marketing, Tony D'Alessandro, said selecting Eqlize was a considered and strategic decision by the industry fund to best service its members.

"Decimal is an ideal fit in terms of functionality and delivering the best possible outcomes to our members," Mr D'Alessandro said.

"This includes product capability, Decimal's approach to implementation, and the company's understanding and compliance with ASIC's guidelines on digital advice."

Mr D'Alessandro believes that digital advice is a value add that will attract more members and more employers, positioning Statewide Super for further growth.

Mr Pollock said Decimal was also very proud to deliver its first project in conjunction with Industry Fund Services, the AFSL licensee and delivery partner for Statewide Super.

About Statewide

Statewide Super is a proudly South Australian profit-for-members industry superannuation fund that everyone is welcome to join, regardless of location or industry. It is the leading industry fund based in South Australia, with over $8 billion in funds under management, 145,531 members and 18,000 employers.

About Decimal

Our purpose is to make financial advice available to all Australians via advice delivery technology, across channels when and where they choose.

We partner with banks, superannuation funds and fund administrators already entrusted with customers' retirement savings, to deliver advice to the community as a whole. To achieve this, we have developed the world's first enterprise-focused omni channel advice delivery technology. Our software provides consistent, fully compliant financial advice to our client organisations' customers across multiple platforms of digital, phone or face-to-face, across numerous topics such as savings, superannuation, insurance and retirement, as well as investments.

Decimal is headquartered in Australia and listed on the ASX under the code DSX. See www.decimal.com
